The price of success in school as elsewhere, is work. There isn't any "bargain table" where you can exchange promises and good intentions for excellent grades. WORK - intelligent, constructive work - is the price that success demands; work so productive and satisfying that it ceases to be difficult or onerous; so interesting, so pleasant, so deeply embedded into your consciousness that it becomes a way of life.

I sincerely extend congratulations to you, our honor students, for your willingness to pay the price.

Advice About....

OUR RESOURCES

Energy. You've heard about it, read about it and thought about it more than you ever thought you would. The tips below will help you do something about conserving it.

11 Keep Speed Down: Tests conducted with a popular American car have indicated a 25 percent improvement in fuel economy when speeds are reduced from 70 to 50 miles per hour. Wind resistance increases as car speed increases, and more energy is thus required to move the car at higher speeds.

2 Avoid "Jack Rabbit" Starts: Gradual acceleration in city driving can save as much as two miles per gallon compared to rapid acceleration. That's because it takes a lot of extra energy to increase an automobile's acceleration rate. A power valve, located in the carburetor, lets more fuel into the cylinders under full acceleration. In addition, an accelerator pump provides extra fuel to avoid hesitation when the gas pedal is jabbed.

3 Keep Speed Constant: Driving at steady speeds helps to save gasoline. Unnecessary acceleration activates the accelerator pump and power valve, thus injecting extra—and wasted—fuel into the system.

4 Anticipate Stops: It is best to plan ahead for all possible traffic conditions. This allows for gradual, rather than abrupt stops, and this smooth driving contributes to better fuel economy.

5 Plan All Trips: Plan car trips to cover as many errands as possible at one time. In city driving, a one-mile trip with the engine cold may decrease fuel economy by as much as 70 percent since combustion is relatively inefficient in a cold engine.

6 Form Car Pools: One of the best ways to conserve gasoline is to form car pools. Motorists can join with friends, neighbors, and co-workers to take one car to a common destination.

7 Avoid Unnecessary Engine Idling: In cold weather, let the engine idle for 30 seconds before driving off, but never idle excessively. It does no useful work and merely wastes fuel.

8 Minimize The Use Of Air Conditioning: Air conditioning puts a substantial load on automobile engines. While driving at 30 miles per hour, for example, use of the air conditioner can result in a fuel economy loss of two miles per gallon. As a rule, use of the air conditioner cuts gasoline mileage by 10 percent.

9 Keep Wheels Properly Aligned: When the wheels don't track properly, there's a dragging effect on the tires, which causes the engine to work harder.

10 Maintain Correct Tire Pressure: Under inflated tires reduce gasoline mileage slightly; soft tires also wear out quicker. Tires should not, however, be inflated above the maximum recommended pressure.

11 Keep The Engine Tuned Up: Spark plug misfiring may result in significant increase in fuel consumption. In addition, ignition timing deviating from the manufacturer's recommended setting can result in a significant decrease in fuel economy. These and other obstacles to efficient engine performance can be eliminated with a complete engine tune-up.

12 Service Air Filter: A dirty air filter can cause a decrease in fuel economy, and a decrease in power output, by restricting the flow of air to the engine. Change the air filter at 12,000- or 24,000-mile intervals, according to the manufacturer's recommendations. In addition, frequent air filter servicing is required if considerable driving is done in sandy or dusty conditions.

13 Check The Automatic Choke: The automatic choke should be checked regularly, since it regulates the fuel-air mixture and if improperly adjusted it will waste gasoline.

14 Don't Ride The Brakes: Even slight foot pressure on the brake pedal can apply the brakes, especially power brakes. This wastes fuel energy which might be used to move the car.

15 Keep Transmission In High Gear: Keep both automatic and manual transmissions in the highest gear possible. With a manual transmission, shift into high gear as soon as you can; with an automatic transmission, use a light foot on the accelerator to encourage the transmission to shift into high gear quickly.

16 Minimize Vehicle Loads: Transporting unnecessary weight in your car will cause it to use more fuel. The difference is not great on level ground, but does show up when climbing a hill. You will probably have to use your brakes more often.

17 Service The Manifold Heat Control Valve: See that the manifold heat control valve is inspected and serviced at the recommended intervals. This valve, located in the exhaust system of some cars, allows exhaust gases to heat the intake manifold during cold engine operation. A valve stuck in the open position causes slow engine warm-up and poor cold-engine performance. A valve stuck in the closed position will cause a loss of power and hard starting with a hot engine. Sticking in either position makes the engine use more fuel.

Advice About....

The Environment

America the beautiful has become America the endangered. Each of us must do our part to help our country become less dependent on outside energy sources.

In the past months, newspapers across the country have been filled with news of the energy crisis. There are four basic reasons for you to conserve energy:

- High costs of producing and delivering energy have forced rates higher and higher.
- Fuels needed to produce energy are in short supply.
- There is no known way to produce electricity without some adverse effect on the environment. By conserving electricity, you help protect the environment.
- By conserving energy, you help ensure an adequate supply for many important life-support functions.

Following are some of the ways in which you can help.

YOUR HOME

In the home, very little energy is needed to produce light, more is needed to power appliances and the most energy is demanded for heating and cooling. There are a few major electrical appliances which are significantly responsible for the surge in energy consumption. By proper use of these appliances you can save money and energy.

Air Conditioner

1. When no one is home, turn off the air conditioner.
2. Select moderate or medium setting, rather than high.
3. During the day adjust draperies to keep out the sun.
4. Don't block the flow of cool air with draperies or furniture.
5. Check the filter frequently for dirt. Clean or replace according to manufacturers' instructions.
6. Buy the right size air conditioner for the area to be cooled.

Refrigerator

1. Don't overload with a lot of warm food at one time.
2. Keep the condenser coils at the back or bottom of your refrigerator clean—dusty coils reduce efficiency.
3. Defrost whenever frost builds up to 1/4 inch.
4. When going away for an extended period, turn off the refrigerator.
5. When going away for a short period, leave as few perishables as possible and turn refrigerator to a warmer setting.
6. Check the door to see that it shuts tightly.
7. Don't use your refrigerator to cool your home.

Water Heater

1. Avoid high setting. 140°F-160°F is usually adequate.
2. Have your plumber or service man come in regularly to check your unit.
3. When washing at a sink or basin, don't keep hot water running.
4. Remember that a shower uses only about half as much water as a tub.

Dishwasher

1. Use the dishwasher only when full.
2. Use the kind of detergent recommended by the manufacturer.
3. Clean the filter screen often.

Washer and Dryer

1. Do one full load instead of several small ones.
2. Use cold water and rinse with cold water detergent.
3. Use 10 minute wash cycles.
4. Don't overdry clothes.
5. Remove lint from trap every time you use the dryer.
6. During the summer, vent the dryer to the outside. In the winter, disconnect the vent.

Range

1. Cook all foods for each meal in one area—on top of the stove, in the oven or under the broiler.
2. Use only as much heat as you need to do the cooking job.
3. Don't preheat longer than 10 minutes.
4. Don't peek in the oven unnecessarily—this causes the oven temperature to drop 25°F.
5. Don't use your range to help heat your kitchen.

Space Heater or Furnace

1. Keep radiators and warm air outlets clean. Don't block them with furniture.
2. Take advantage of the sun. Keep blinds open on sunny days, closed on cold or cloudy days.
3. Check windows and doors. If they are drafty, have weather stripping installed. Also save heat by using storm windows and doors.
4. If you have a fireplace, make sure damper is closed when not in use.
5. Don't open outside doors unnecessarily.
6. Close off and don't heat unused areas.
7. Make certain that thermostat and heating system are in good working order. An annual checkup by your plumber or fuel oil dealer is recommended.
8. Keep the furnace filter clean. Check it once a month.
9. Keep the thermostat setting constant. 70°F should be fine for daytime, 65°F for nighttime.
10. If you open your bedroom window at night, close the door to avoid heat loss. Close heat vents if possible.
11. Make sure your home is well insulated.

This nation is obligated to continue and to expand its support of the total educational structure. It must reinforce its commitment to the education of its whole population. Our nation must do this in an atmosphere of fairness and justice so that the dreams and the hopes of every man shall be tested by but one criterion - to what extent each person is personally willing to achieve the degree of excellence that is inherent in himself. For if each should do that, he shall be rewarded by his fellows by their recognition of his personal dignity and by his own knowledge of his participation in the enlargement and enhancement of the lives of others. Students must be positively supported in their desires to achieve the good life and to share the opportunities that should be open to them in the best interest of our society and the future of our nation.

G. S. Fauntleroy

Teachers are here to help you
And point you in the right way.
They tell about things important in life
And hope you are here to stay.
They tell about math and science,
That most of our students don't like.
But if you want to survive in life,
We better learn it right.
They tell us about all the rules
That we should follow while we're in school.
They tell us how to control ourselves
And how to follow the Golden Rule.
They help us to have better manners
Each and every day.
But if you don't go by them,

You have a price to pay.
They are always saying what to do.
To improve ourselves.
We often get tired of listening to them.
But what would we do
If we didn't have teachers in our school?

It is my very special pleasure to express my proud feeling of all our students who are in attendance here at Peabody Junior High School.

R. Stephenson

Mr. A. W. Jones is a true Peabodian. He graduated from Peabody. When he finished college, he came back and has been here ever since. All of his children, who are now going to college, graduated from Peabody. He was a PE teacher for 18 years, a football coach, and an assistant principal. In 1972 he became principal of Peabody Jr. High School. Mr. Jones says the students today are more intelligent than in previous years. The problem is trying to channel their intelligence in the right direction. He has always considered Peabody as one of the best Jr. High Schools in the State of Virginia. "I would like to see the day when all of our students would take part in all of the activities of the school and really become true Peabodians."

To many of us it seems the days are passing faster than ever before. We are now at the end of another school year. School, to some, is boredom and drudgery, to others, it is a challenge and an opportunity for learning. But each of us should have a positive goal to achieve, a desire for fulfillment and happiness and a specific, positive purpose each day. With the right spirit, even the unpleasant task has within it some hidden riches which contribute to our fulfillment. I hope you will find this true in your own personal life, too.

G. E. Peal

I don't think I have ever had a work environment as pleasant as Peabody. I feel good about coming to school, I miss being here during vacations, and I look forward to Mondays, which to all working people, means a great deal. I enjoy my counselees and think this age group is an interesting and fascinating adventure. I guess what I'm really saying is "I'm Happy!"

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

For Teacher Appreciation Day some students did nice things for their homeroom teacher. The SCA gave a party for all faculty members during their planning periods. The teachers enjoyed the minis, peanuts, cakes, punch, cookies and calming background music. Johnna Robinson

We gave a surprise party and she was very surprised. She walked around the room and gave everyone a kiss on the cheek. That surprised us.

Being from the country I always viewed Peabody as a "Big City" school with all the usual problems of "big city schools." I have always admired Peabody and I still sometimes marvel at the idea of working here.

P. Witt

Because it was an older school, I thought it left a lot to be desired.

However, after 9 months of teaching, I am very impressed with the rapport between students and teachers and faculty and administrators. It seems as though all are concerned with the betterment of school activities and increasing activities that are in the students interests.

When I was an eighth grader, that was quite a few years ago, my first impression was much the same as any other new student. As a teacher, I was impressed by so many people, whom I had known for a long time.

P. Davis

I loved it. The principal, Mr. Rainey, was progressive and the students were a challenge for me. I also found the teachers to be very friendly.

C. Alcaraz

I saw a close intimate family where everybody knew each other. About a dozen teachers and 250 students.

M. Hayes

After a short time at Peabody, I saw that the students were warm and the faculty were willing to help when they could.

T. Burkhalter

A lot of buildings and entrances and exits.

J. Burch

STUDENT ATTITUDES

Most of the students enter with acceptable attitudes. If there are any changes we, the teachers, are partly responsible. To be more direct, however, the general trend of students' attitudes is good, but there is always room for improvement.

J. Williams

The students' attitudes toward school, teachers, administrators, learning and extra curricular activities are excellent. Many evidences of positive and constructive attitudes far outweigh the punitively negative.

P. Davis

We have only a few students who are not interested in obtaining an education. The overall attitudes of the students are good.

R. Stephenson

Most of the students at Peabody are happy, loving, respecting, striving young people. A few (too many however) are unhappy and confused youths who find it difficult to love and respect themselves and others.

M. S. Hayes

The students as a body are very undisciplined and apathetic.

Although in class they are generally average in attitudes and behavior when they are grouped in large numbers they must be strictly disciplined. When they aren't a small minority begins poor behavior which causes the entire group to become rude. There is a definite lack of appreciation of others.

AS LONG AS YOU TREAT ANY HUMAN BEING AS a human being, in all ways, there are no problems. Students are no different. Of course their attitudes about life and their school work generally tend to be a bit shaky, but with a lot of understanding and patience, it can be worked out. Our students must learn the meaning of self pride and individual dignity.

Typical. Just because this is 1977 doesn't mean that student interests have changed over the years. The only attitude students have now, that did not exist in the many schools I attended is the desire to hurt one another. It certainly took a great deal more to provoke a fight when I was coming through school. I think fighting has become a form of recreation at Peabody.

M. Witt

Most of the students with whom I have direct contact are OK. Many are lacking in manners and the social graces in general though I don't believe it's hopeless. There is a tremendous amount of profanity.

G. Longworth

Very difficult to answer. On one hand I feel that to be given privileges and grades without the necessary hard work and responsibility on their part. For example: Students WANT a juke box. But when we had one they never followed the rules set up and as a result the lines could not move in the cafeteria and students were constantly late for class. I do believe that students should have privileges like the jukebox, but only if they prove they can handle it. Just giving out privileges without attaching responsibilities spoils the student and does not prepare him for the outside world. (Example: driving license is a privilege but if you don't follow traffic rules you can lose it.)

C. Alcaraz

40 HOW DO YOU LIKE PEABODY?

I love it. I find it very challenging. There's never a dull moment, always new ideas coming up to be worked on. Sometimes it is frustrating because there is not enough time to be able to accomplish an idea with the degree of perfection as I would like. There are still many new ideas I'd like to see carried out. Maybe we can get around to them in the next eight years.
C. Alcaraz

Like any public institution, Peabody has its faults. Working together, students and teachers can resolve these and still have a good school.
R. Hairston

All the energy displayed by the students, the wonderful faculty and staff and the progressiveness of the system itself. The people, especially the students, here are beautiful!
G. Longworth

I graduated from Peabody when what is called the Williams Annex was Peabody High School so with some pride, I must say Peabody is an endearing institution to me.
P. Davis

I like Peabody. I like young people and I like being around them.
F. Morgan

Each and every year that I have been here, I find that I like Peabody better than the year before.
W. Deatherage

Excluding the auditorium, I have no real complaints about the actual physical plant. The faculty is generally personable and friendly.

There are a few who are exceptional in their efforts.
D. Wilson

Three married couples are employed by Peabody Jr. High. Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon, and Mr. and Mrs. Hayes.

What is it like to work at the same school with my spouse?

"It's marvelous! We have great respect for each other as individuals - this makes us great friends.

Friends always have tidbits of interest to share whenever or wherever they meet. Running into each other on the job makes the day more interesting and more enjoyable."

Mrs. Lou Caldwell

I like it because I love her. We have always enjoyed each other's company regardless of where we are. Working together does not alter the fact - it simply highlights it.

Joe Caldwell

Working at the same school with your spouse is very convenient as well as enjoyable. We can ride to school and back home together. Also, we can spend most of our leisure time with each other because we have the same working hours. It is very easy to talk over the events and problems of the day together and be understood.

We teach some of the same students. They always keep us informed as to what the other is doing. This is often quite comical. Something that can also be amusing is when students see us talking at school. They tease us frequently since we are newlyweds.

41

HUSBAND AND WIFE WORK TOGETHER

All things considered, we both agree that we like working the same school very much. In fact, if we had not been working in the same school, we may never have met.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon

I feel there are advantages and disadvantages to this. The advantages may be centered around economy that thousands of people across the nation are concerned about; and secondly there is actually more time to spend with one another because you can come and go together. On the other hand, sometimes working in the same situation kind of limits conversation because the couple has nothing new to discuss. Then, too, let's face it, being human we all tend to have little misunderstandings from time to time and many times just being away from the source of confusion tends to ease the tension.

G. Hayes

It's good to have a spouse who assures my prompt arrival at work.

STUDENTS DARE TO BE INDIVIDUALS

Peabody is a beautiful old school.
It is full of people who think they are cool.
In the good old days,
Children would obey.
When the teachers say to do something now,
All they do is frown.
Talk about the Golden Rule,
Tell me, who are you trying to fool?

WHERE WERE YOU WHEN THE LIGHTS WENT OUT?

On February 3, 1977, at 10:55 a.m., every light in every room of Peabody Jr. High blacked out. The result was confusion, speculation, and excitement.

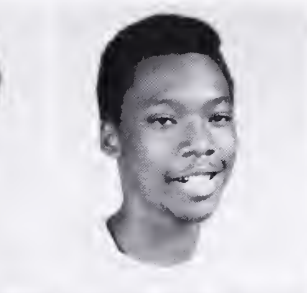

When the lights went out, I thought what if the electricity went out all over the U.S.? How would people live without it? Our national defense would be limited. Our food could spoil. A lot of us might starve to death. A lot of people will be unemployed.

EVERY STUDENT WAS A CARD CARRIER

When I went to get my ID picture taken I was the only one in there, me and another girl. When I sat in that chair I felt like I was in jail. The woman said to smile, so I did. After I got out of the chair I could hardly see. I just about fell down the stairs.

Angela Lewellyn

I thought that the I.D.s were silly this year. Last year, after the trouble, we needed them so people couldn't get into school who didn't belong. They used to check them a lot, but this year I have not used my I.D. to get into any special activities or anything of that sort. I believe that if we are supposed to always have these things on us we should have special activities to show that we do carry our I.D.

STUDENTS DISCOVER THEMSELVES

"Life Is Just a Moment"

Watching each day go by
Living and learning and wondering why,
Confusing people, all wanting to try.
Let's help each other before we all die.
This world in which we live is moving fast,
Everyone trying not to be last.
The story has started and we're the cast
So let it be written with a little jazz.

What we get is ours to hold,
To treasure and keep with your soul.
Enjoy it now, be strong and bold.
Because the real story hasn't been told.
Let's finish this with words of advice,
Treat those you know extra nice.
Never do without thinking twice,
Because you will have to pay the price.

YEARBOOK STAFF HAMS IT UP

The yearbook assembly was well put together. Most of the students enjoyed it. I think we got the point across them. It was worthwhile doing it. I think the people in the school did not get bored and got their laugh for the year.

Patty Webster

The yearbook assembly that was put on was a very good idea to encourage the students to buy the 1977 Peabodian. I especially like it because I liked working on the props for a play, but I didn't have to perform in it.

Free Is This Country

It's good to know that we're free;
 You, me and our whole country.
 Time and again we know it's true,
 This country's free for me and you.
 Free is the word which rings in our ears.
 Free is the word that brought us through the years.
 It's a word that we will always ring.
 A word we should always sing.

So now it's part of our song.
 It's a word that lasts so long.
 It's a word that describes our country,
 For it tells us we will always be free.

FADS COME AND GO

Pencil fighting is the game for me.
When you lose you feel silly.
But when you win you run and jump,
Because you best the pencil
That was so "tough."

Michael Davis

A pencil is a tool you write with.
You can write with a pencil with all your might.
But the best thing about a pencil is that you can have a Pencil Fight.

Robert Bolden

I like to pencil fight at the end of the day,
Whenever I lose, I have nothing to say.
I always like breaking pencils in school,
My teacher says it's breaking a rule.

WHEN SECOND SEMESTER BEGINS

66

I feel - kinda good,
kinda tired, and
kinda bored.
That's how I feel
after the first day in the second semester.
Sherri Bailey

I feel terrible because one of my new teachers fussed at me early this morning. I wish I could get out of her class.

Faye Epps

I feel happy because that means school is almost out.

Terrell Worrell

I feel like the year is starting all over again. I mean everything is new. I wanted third lunch because all of my friends have it, but I can't change.

NATIONAL TEST TIME

I liked watching "Test Talk." It showed us how to prepare for the tests.

Rose Kelley

"Test Talk" was a good idea, but some ninth graders saw it last year and were bored.

W. Pete Gwaltney

Standardized tests were given to all students in November and then only to the ninth graders again in February. The tests lasted from 9:00 to 11:00 for three days.

If you walked down the hall, it seemed like a ghost town. Some students were nervous others weren't. Some questions were a breeze and others were complicated. On the third day, the testing ended. Oh, what a relief!

EIGHTH GRADE CLASS

Sometimes I think of beautiful things:
 Pretty green mountains or lovely springs,
 A rose just opening its petals to the sun,
 A mother and daughter having fun,
 To go on a picnic on a warm spring day,
 Or see a little child at play,
 To climb a mountain big, bold and tall,
 And not be afraid that you might fall.
 All these things are beautiful, it's true,
 But keeping them beautiful is up to you.

School is a place to have fun and work,
 Don't sit there and act like a jerk.
 You'll be proud if you sit and write.
 All of us want to be happy and bright.
 So take my advice; do what you're told.
 You may not have a chance to when you're old.

FOOTBALL IS OUR GAME

The big night was here. The night of the Peabody Lions' Homecoming game. We started by warming up with exercises. The Ref called for the captains. We knew the game must start at 7:30, well it started. The first half was a nice hard game. But the second half was hard for the ball players. Dinwiddie was ahead by a couple of points. With only 1:53 left, we scored. We had won 14 to 12. We were the champs!

THE ONE AND ONLY

The Pep Rally was a very important day for the guys and me, because when we had that Pep Rally we really felt that everyone in the school was behind the football team and that made it really easy for us and we felt good inside all that day.

Michael Bullock

I went to the Pep Rally, and I was scared at first 'cause I did not know what to do, until I found my friends. We had a ball; the band was really good.

Connie McNew

The Pep Rally was Okay, the mascot was really cute. I really liked not having to go to class something to look forward to.

John Moore

The eighth and ninth grade girls had to cheer against each other. The band started playing while the girls were still doing their thing, and everybody was getting off out there.

The pep rally was alright because I participated.

Most of the girls say that I shouldn't have been cheering with the football players, but they were making the most noise. That is what a Pep Rally is for, isn't it? I don't feel that I was being grown or frisky, I was being me and having fun!

Nadine Jackson

Pep Rallies are certainly a waste of time. When you go you can't see anything anyway, The teachers watch you like a hawk. They make sure you don't do anything wrong. Some people just cause trouble. I don't think there has been any trouble with these Pep Rallies, but there probably will.

Patty Webster

Pep Rallies are a ball of confusion but it gives us a chance to hear our band and see our football players. I think they are great but someone must think not, because we have had only one.

Petersburg High School has one every Friday. I think the 9th graders are mature and know how to act, if only someone would give us a chance.

LOVE BLOOMS HERE, TOO

A Wish For the Future

Love is beautiful and full of sweets
I wish that it would sweep the streets.
Everyday you hear of crimes,
Why can't love stay all the time?
If people would stop and care,
There would be loving kindness for all to share.

By: Pamela White

Of all the girls I ever met,
You're the one I love the best.
I do believe that God above
Created you for me to love.

I once had a heart so golden blue,
But now it's gone from me to you.
You're my love, my only one.

If I die and go to heaven,
I'll meet you at the golden stairs.
If you're not there by judgment day,
I'll know you went the other way.
And I'll give the angels back their wings,
Their golden harps and everything.
And just to prove my love to you,
I'll come to hell to be with you.

Taking up trays is a drag.
 They should stop the whole system
 And make students bring doggy bags.

 To take up trays all day,
 So let's take ours up,
 And make them happy and gay.

PUPPY LOVE?

Kissing at school is not a rule,
But the kids seem to enjoy it quite a bit.
In the corners, on the stairs,
The kids just do it everywhere.
It doesn't matter to them if you see,
They just say it makes them feel free.
So kiss at school if you like.
But, to me, it's just not right.

TEACHERS SWAP

Some teachers shared their talents with new classes in Operation Teach-A-Switch. Mr. Featheringill, an ardent admirer of mythology, was guest speaker in Mrs. Smallwood's class. At the same time, Mrs. Smallwood talked about foreign languages to Mr. Featheringill's class. Mr. Wilson lectured on the early theater. Mrs. Siedow, a native of France spoke about the kinship of Latin to French and Mrs.

Horst was the consultant on early uses of music and musical instruments used by the Romans.

IT'S BEEN A GOOD YEAR

If you consider the good and not the bad,
Then think about all the fun you could have had.
If you think about all the good at Peabody Jr. High,
You would have a picture of heaven in the sky.
So go along with me and don't deny,
That the best school is Peabody Jr. High.

We Ninth Grade students of Peabody High
Would like to say, so long, good-bye.
The times we've had these few years
Have brought to our faces laughter and tears
The years ahead are going to be hard
A lot tougher than just a report card.
But as long as we keep the memory of you
The happy memories will carry us through.
The way we'd laugh and run through the halls
And the way we'd write our names on the walls
The things we did weren't always right,

Like cursing at teachers or starting a fight.
But Peabody we really do love you so,
And I'm sorry to say we have to go.
Peabody's a name we'll always cherish
In hopes that others won't let it perish.
And as the theme of your yearbook says this year,
Peabody's brought us a lot of cheer.
Through the bumps and stumbles along the way
Peabody . . . we had some "Happy Days."

SCHOOL DANCES BY RESERVED TICKET ONLY

After school dances are a special event when the lights are turned down and very well dressed students "get it off" with their favorite music. A highlight of the evening is the crowning of the queen and king. Cameras are always flashing memories. I liked the Homecoming Dance. I danced nearly every dance because our boys aren't shy. They sold sodas, hot dogs, and cookies; I didn't buy any because they were priced too high. The one thing that I liked the least: it ended.

Julie Holmes

Roll up your pant legs
And put on your bobby socks.
Peabody is going back to the 50's,
Back to the Sock Hop.

Spencer Allen

Roars of laughter rolled under the auditorium doors as "selected" members of the Peabody faculty relived almost forgotten memories of the 50's. Overaged boys greased their hair and pulled on dirty T-shirts and leather jackets as the girls dolled up in full skirts and oxfords. They performed 19 pop tunes from those "Happy Days." Who Wears Short Shorts? The Duke of Earl or The Leader of the Pack?

WHY DID THEY DO IT?

I enjoy making the students happy and exposing them to the different.

J. B. Jones

D. Lemons

I was drafted; I was literally forced.

J. Evans

In each different act or song there was a different feeling, mostly "happy" feelings. I really enjoyed being a part of the show.

I wanted to be in an activity with the faculty.

J. Williams

I think some students may have resented teachers trying to act like teenagers. Perhaps the students could have done a better job, but that wasn't the purpose. We really wanted everyone to see the unity in our faculty. This same unity and friendship could and should carry over to the student body.

CO-EDUCATIONAL PE CLASSES

96 began with mixed emotions this fall. Many varied thoughts crossed the minds of parents, teachers and students alike. The requirement for mixed PE classes came from new Federal laws, but the local schools had to solve the multitude of problems: schedules, physical facilities, course outlines, and new uniforms. This successful change offered students more variety in classes.

A CHANCE FOR GROWTH

Do you remember when we were out of school some days? Those were professional days. I had fun at home, but half of the time, I was bored. I told my mother I'll be glad to go back to school. She asked why. I told her because I was bored and I was used to being in a noisy place. She started laughing.

Cynthia Parham

Having a professional day is a good idea; the kids have a chance to stay home and do whatever they want to do. Teachers can plan their next day's work and get new ideas from other teachers on how to improve or add to their teaching skills.

Pete Gwaltney

97

PROFESSIONAL DAYS AND NIGHTS helped teachers evaluate themselves, exchange points of view, and acquire new skills. Teachers were introduced to the metric system of measurement through small workshops using metric charts, scales, and well-informed instructors. Guest speakers were invited and small problem-solving discussion groups yielded valuable solutions. On other days, the faculty worked hard at solving the routine requirements of their profession.

ONE MINUTE OF SILENCE

During at least one minute of the day, students and teachers were able to pray or meditate in the public schools. By enactment of the General Assembly of Virginia and adoption by the Petersburg School Board, the right of every individual to the free exercise of religion was guaranteed in school, not as a religious service, but as an opportunity for silent prayer or meditation or a moment of silent reflection on the anticipated activities of the day. The quiet was refreshing.

PEP RALLY

Most students enjoyed the Pep rally and the spirit of the team and the band. Unfortunately, scheduling problems cancelled other planned pep rallies so it proved to be the one and only one for 1977. Students hope the next year will yield more pep rallies.

WHAT MAKES US HAPPY?

I asked a wise man once
How happiness was made.
"Happiness comes from these,"
Replied the man to me.

Companionship of others,
Work to keep us busy,
Play to keep us smiling,
A little solitude -
To help us grow within,
And each day - learning more.

Catherine Cheney

FRIENDSHIP . . . MAKES SCHOOL WORTH WHILE

100

It's always fun to take classes with your friends. But it is a good learning experience to make new friends in the school. We learn what others like about us and we learn how to be the kind of people others like to be with.

Housekeeping can be a surprise, discovering overdue assignments or a dollar saved from lunch money. Locker clean-up time bubbles with excited talk, rustling papers and the clatter of metal locker doors. Where does all of the clutter come from?

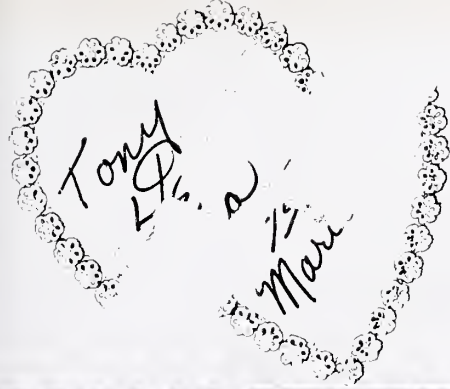

IS NOTHING STABLE?

Old familiar meeting places were left desolate, fences torn down, trees uprooted, the "coop" hauled off, traffic patterns changed and basketball standards toppled as nearby construction blazed its way around the school.

FORGET

Forget his name, forget his face
Forget his kiss and warm embrace.
Forget his love that you once knew.
Remember now, there's someone new.

Forget the love that you once shared.
Forget the fact that he once cared.
Forget the times you spent together.
Remember now, he's gone forever.

Forget you memorized his walk.
Forget you memorized his talk.
Forget the things you used to do.
Remember now, she loves him, too!

Forget him when they play your song.
Forget you cared the whole night long.
Forget how close you once were,
Remember now, he's close to her!

Forget the thrill when he walked by;
Forget the time he made you cry!
Forget the way he said your name.
Remember things are not the same.

Forget the way he held your hand.
Forget the sweet things if you can.
Forget you said that you could wait,
Remember now, his love is hate.

Forget the times that went so fast,
Forget the times that now have passed.
Forget he said, "I'd leave you never!"

Remember now, he's gone FOREVER!
Tammy Eversole

It's Snowing

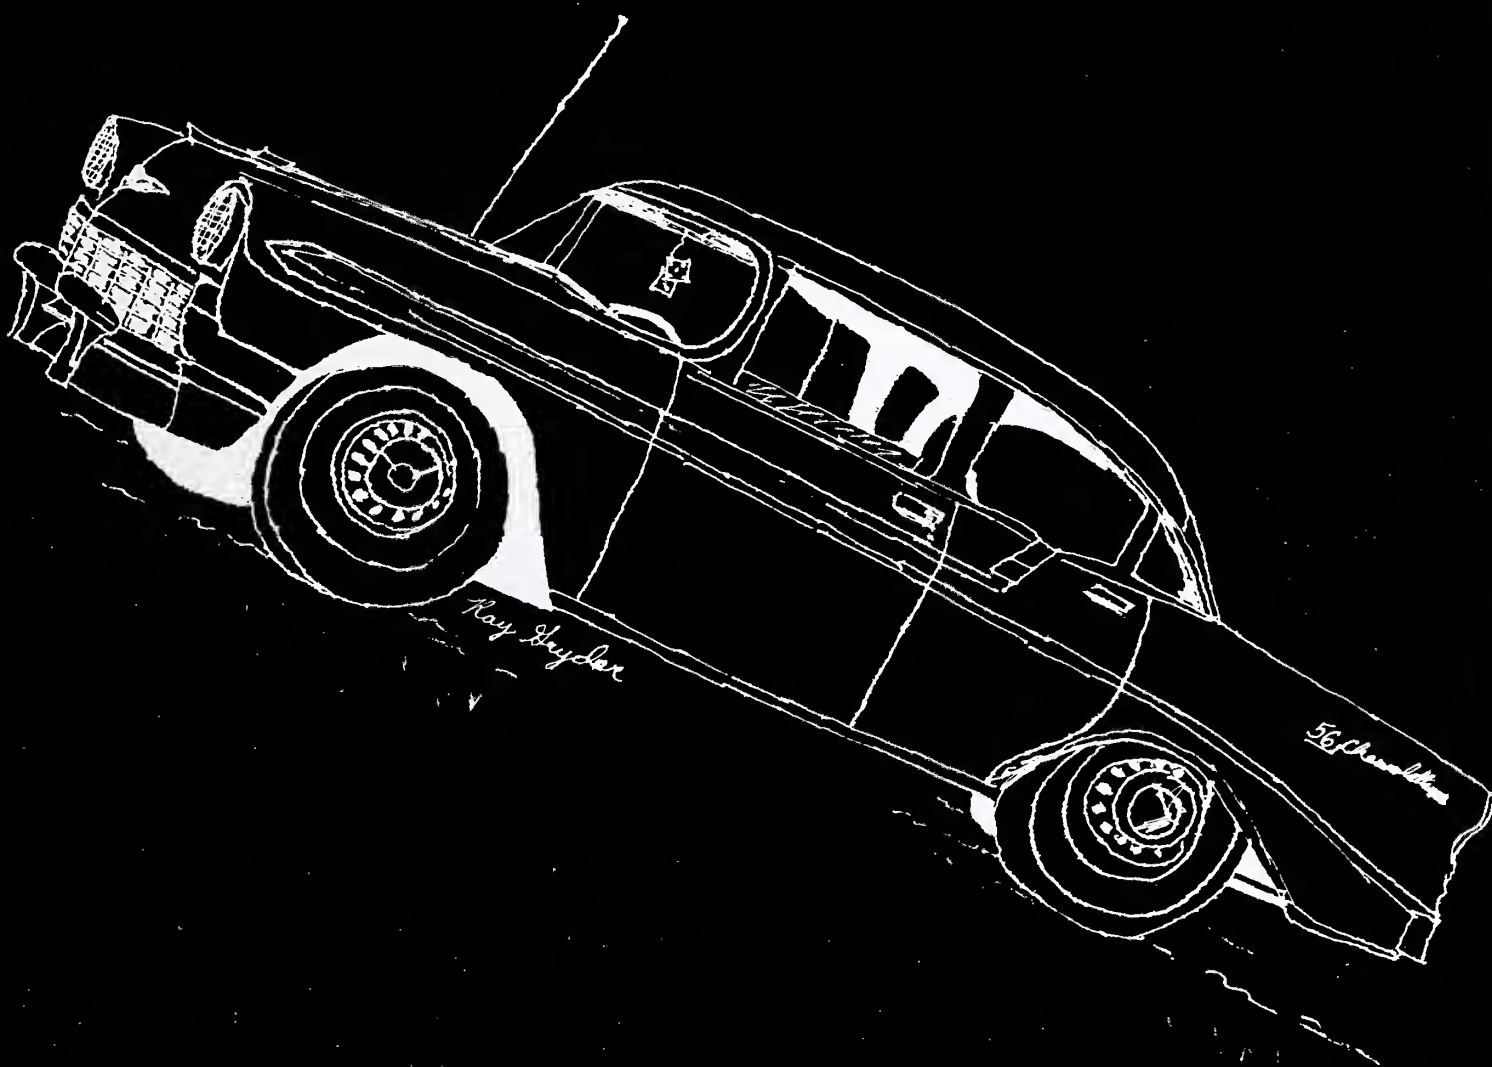

The winter of 1976 was the coldest ever in the memories of even the oldtimers. School was closed several days, partly because of snow, partly because of extreme cold causing fuel shortages. This was the winter Governor Godwin declared a state of emergency, forcing businesses to operate a maximum of forty hours a week and to lay off many workers. This was the winter that made the spring so welcome.

104

Books close and doors open as everybody heads for home.

MEETING PLACES

More teachers should get involved as sponsors in the activities so that more needs of the students can be met. For example, we should be able to offer intramural sports to all Peabodians and self-defense classes for the girls. We should become more civic minded and involved in our organizations.

G. Sears

I don't care about the club meeting. The people that don't go just sit in home room for half an hour doing nothing. The teachers want you to do some work but who wants to do work!

Richard Coty

All of the activities are wholesome, but some consume too much of the classroom time. They tend to interfere with the normal work in the class.

J. Jeter

GETTING INVOLVED

Pretty soon, it should be mandatory for every student to attend.

F. Morgon

In my opinion club meetings are all right. It gets students involved in the school projects. It keeps some students out of trouble. Club meetings can help schools become more fun and less boring.

Kelly Crigger

Petersburg Activity Period is the best time of the day at Peabody Jr. High School. Kids run up and down the halls to go to their history, science, Literary, and other various clubs.

Some kids say they don't have time for clubs because they have work to catch up on.

Howard McCain

When first coming to Peabody I had no idea what clubs I wanted to join. To my surprise one of my teachers from last year had recommended me for the SCRIPT. So I decided I would at least try it. At the first meeting of the SCRIPT, I found a lot of my friends were also in there, and also that the sponsor (Mrs. Fisher) wouldn't allow any one to join unless they were recommended by another teacher. There were a lot of people showing up wanting to be a member of the SCRIPT, but

Mrs. Fisher wouldn't let them. Then she told us it was a great honor to be a member of the PEABODY SCRIPT, so I decided to stay and I'm glad.

Yvette Bethea

What do you do in Activity Period? Some people go to club meetings and some people just stay in their classes bored to death. Other students tell lies so that they can get out of the class. Well, I can't say much because I do it myself. Not all the time.

Next time you have Activity Period do like I do and go to the Library.

Yvette Chatmon

Many students do not stop to think of the benefits they might receive from these activities.

BASKETBALL TEAM

In early November about sixty boys turned out after school. They were there for only one reason: to be chosen a member of the great Peabody Basketball Team. Only fifteen were selected.

The team kept up the school record: Undefeated Four Straight Years. We played eight other teams, three of which were high school junior varsity teams, Surry, Gibbons, and Charles City High Schools. The trips to away games have been just as fun. The guys always seem to be cutting someone down or trying to get in good with one of the cheerleaders. It's been a happy year.

FLAG GIRLS AND RIFLE GIRLS

Being a flag girl is very exciting. I'm a person who likes to travel and meet new faces and places. It's hard work, but very fun. I think our best performance was at Virginia State College. And the second most important performance was in the Hopewell Christmas parade.

CHEERLEADERS

The cheerleaders are one of our school's most important and rewarding organizations. They are responsible for the team spirit at our games and in our school. Traveling everywhere with the football and basketball teams, you can tell that they are always proud to be showing off our school's outstanding record in sports. They also help with the pep rallies and lead the Pep club and crowd in the cheers.

Being a cheerleader isn't all fun and games, it can be hard work sometimes. To become a cheerleader you must be able to do two cheers and jumps and be very loud and enthusiastic in doing them. Then you have to be able to do a cartwheel, round-off, split cartwheel into split, and then an optional punt. Even after you make the squad, there is more work with practices in the summer and during the season. You should also be an easy person to get along with. Two women who willingly devote their time and experience in sponsoring this group are Mrs. Wheat and Ms. Fitzgerald. They help us correct what is wrong, give us ideas for cheers and become close friends to each of us.

The squad captain is Angela Holson who is assisted by Stephanie Pride. The other girls are Teresa Adams, Teresa Perry, Crystal Bullock, Sherry Fowler, Audrey Hudson, Kelly White, Peggy Scott, Cathy Stafford, Linda Taylor, Sherry White, Lisa Mountcastle and Annette Stith.

PEP CLUB

I have been the captain of the Pep Club for two whole years. I really enjoyed working with the pep club. We had lots of fun cheering at the games and going to other schools. I hope the pep club next year will be just as good as it was this year. I would like to thank Mrs. Johnson for taking the time and patience in working with us. Without her, there would have been no Pep club.

Chevolia Pegram

I have been a co-captain for the pep club for two whole years and I have really enjoyed being in it because it is fun going places and cheering for the basketball team and the football team.

Jackie Brown

116

I really enjoy the Pep Club. We get to go to a lot of places. I have so much fun sometimes that when I get home my voice is gone. To be in the Pep Club you have to have a C average and a few other things.

Pamela Lundy

I like the Pep Club because we have a great time cheering. Some of the cheers are really moving.

Gayle O'Neal

The requirements for being in the Pep club is to have spirit and a big mouth.

Janice Brown

I like the Pep club because I have a lot of fun and get to go to other places and meet new people from other schools.

Jewel Amos

I have been in the Pep Club one year. We make up some of our cheers and I never lost my voice after a game. It was fun while it lasted.

Pamela Ratliff

I like the Pep club very much because you get fun and a lot of enjoyment out of cheering and acting c-r-a-z-y.

Sharon Johnson

I like the club because we get to go to other places that some people may never have been before.

Michelle McKeever

I enjoy the Pep Club because I like going to games here at home and away and making noise.

Gwen Woods

I made up the cheer called "Tick Tock Goes the Clock."

Susan Waiters

I'm crazy about the Pep Club because we go to different schools and cheer with the cheerleaders. It's fun and you get to get into all the games free.

Sharon Powell

I enjoy the Pep club because I feel that it is very necessary to support my school's team.

Marsha Lee

I enjoy the pep club very much because we get to go to different schools and meet different people.

Bonnie Williams

I enjoy being in the Pep Club because I like to cheer and be proud of my school. I like to get in the games free and be with my friends, when they are yelling.

Desiree Thompson

I like being in the Pep club even though it was my first year in it.

Patricia Jones

The reason I like the Pep Club is because it is fun and really a good pleasure to say that you are a member of the Pep club. You have to have spirit and lots of "pep." If you've got that I think you are a qualified member.

Stacey Revish

CONCERT & MARCHING BANDS

Time, patience and effort all play a major part in making our band the success that it is. Whether playing at a football game, at a concert or in a parade, the band, under the direction of Mr. H. Brower, adds life and color to the occasion. The band started during summer school. Members have rehearsed after school from 3:30 until 5:00 pm and some 7:00 am practices were held also. The band consists of about 95 members including the flag girls, rifle girls and the majorettes. It has performed in half-time shows at Peabody's games and also at Virginia State College and at Peabody's field for a Titans game. In order to achieve its greatest heights, the members of the band must have that most important quality: Teamwork. The band has been an active and cultural addition to our school. Among the band's accomplishments are performances in city parades. It is noted for its great spirit, originality, and skill. The band is truly the pride of the school.

We don't mind practicing because we want to get it right.

We go places, do things, learn new names.
Even when we do things, we learn new games.

PEABODY CHOIRS

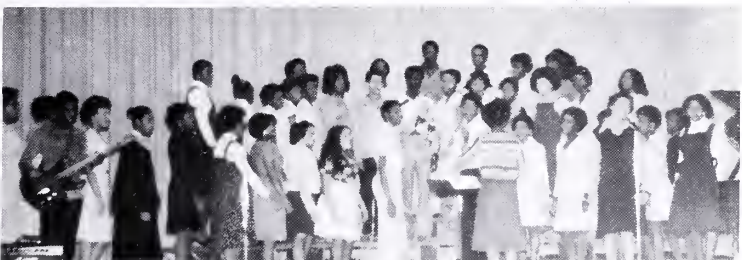

Peabody is a unique school, it has three choirs: Mixed Choir, Girls Choir, and Gospel Choir. The mixed choir has a combination of soprano, alto, tenor and bass voices. The all girl choir blends only soprano and alto voices. The Gospel Choir is a new group, original, with a sound of its own. It has prospered under the direction and assistance of Mrs. Gibbs, a very generous woman who has devoted much of her time and talent. The Gospel Choir was first organized by a few energetic students. The choirs have performed for the school at Christmas and at Cental State Hospital.

SCIENCE DEPT. — SANTA'S HELPERS

The science department caught the spirit of Christmas this year as they collected literally hundreds of used usable toys and clothing for any family in need of them. Most all students in any of the science classes participated by collecting or restoring these worthwhile items. There were so many things that several classrooms had to be used to store them all.

126

I think that this science project shows that Peabody students can do many things together to help people in our city who need and enjoy our thoughtful generosity. It all worked out so well. We should be proud.

Tanya Wrenn

I think the science department did a good thing by doing this project. They helped the children whose parents couldn't afford toys for Christmas to still have a nice Christmas.

Robyn Allen

I think that the science project really showed how much school spirit Peabody has and how working together can help others that are less fortunate.

Susie Powell

I know that the science department did a good thing by doing this project because it really made many kids feel wanted by someone and it also made us feel useful.

STUDENT COUNCIL AND SCA

AIDES

Student council members devote their time each morning to help the school and the community. They help find solutions to problems that arise during the school year. They help with Christmas charities, support club activities and sometimes sponsor dances and plays.

The student council aides represent different classes in the school and help to inform the entire student body and teachers about what is happening.

DEBATE CLUB

The Debate Club is a literary organization which helps members to learn the art of debating issues both positively and negatively. This year they have had several debates on issues such as abortion, black-white relationships, and boys and girls having PE together.

The production of a yearbook on the junior high level is a great challenge for any staff. The amount of time, coordination and individual effort is enormous. Is it worth the time and money?

At the first of the year, the staff must get together and decide upon a theme and make specific plans for the various pages of the book. Pictured below are Ettore Epps,

Carolyn Burrow, Sharon Walker, Brandon Robinson, Debbie Lewis, Lelie McNew and Ray Gryder who ponder these problems. Others work out details of art and design, Warren Hicks, Ettore Epps, Jackie Clanton, Cheryl Spain, Crystal Jefferson, Patricia Scott and Marilyn Wade. Edgar Best and Ettore Epps look through the needed materials in the kit provided for compiling a yearbook. Many pages of layouts or rough drafts are made in the search for the perfect style and design. Cheryl Robertson, Kay Abernathy and Cassandra Coates, Tammy Ozmar and Kathy Cummings work on these designs. Thomas Mingia and Danny Saulnier and others sort the 1400 individual pictures of the students, arranging them in alphabetical order and matching names to faces. Karen Massey, the editor, keeps all phases of the work moving along as it should. Sales promotion is necessary. A special assembly is planned and produced by the staff; Ettore Epps, Sylvia Clark, Cindy Keller, Elizabeth Edwards and Debora Rice recreate Happy Days. After all the balloons and candy have been thrown to the audience, Thomas Mingia and Terry Ellis help clean up.

YEARBOOK CLUB

A professional photographer is hired to take the big pictures of the clubs. Mrs. Fauntleroy organized his day and staff members helped him through the school. Barry DeWitt, Greer Thurman, Deborah Rice, Gail McCray, Chris Squires, Cheryl Spain, Letetia Henderson, Marilyn Wyche, Betty Spears, Sharon Walker, Cindy Keller, Cathy Stafford and Sheila Harvey. Money. Got to have money. Patrons were asked to contribute a dollar to the production of the book. Robert Martin asked his teacher, Mr. Longworth. Once the club pictures come in, people must be identified and articles written. Unfortunately, sometimes important pictures are lost. Barbara Heberlig, Valerie Cheatham, Jackie Clanton, Crystal Jefferson, Marilyn Wade, Carolyn Burrow, Brandon Robinson, Cathy Stafford, Patricia Scott, Kelly Crigger, Patty Jackson, Maurice Wilson, Pam Lundy, Eva Parham, Wanda West, Barrie Branch, and Janet Ozmar work and work and work.

The work just never seems to end. Elizabeth Edwards and Sheila Harvey, Gail McCray, Antonio Kemp and Raymonde Moore hurriedly prepare stories and pictures. Mr. Goodmansen seems to be forever writing hall passes or explaining to teachers why their students missed class. Once in a while, some students take a break. But the deadline pushes closer and Jennifer Sims, Cindy Keller and Sherrie Purdie press on to meet the deadline. Panic strikes and only the most loyal staff members are willing to accept the grueling pressure. Letetia Henderson, Vera Turner, Teddy Yeatts and Charles Spears and several others help in the final moments. Finally the last box is closed and mailed to the publisher. Oh, what a relief it is! As you watch students enjoying the collection of school memories, once again you ask, is it worth the time? Is it worth the money? Was the adventure worthwhile?

YEARBOOK CLUB

I think of a yearbook as one of the most convenient, practical ways to preserve memories, and a wonderful instrument to aid us in reflecting. How often have I wanted to look back into the "yesteryear faces" of my Peabody classmates. Unfortunately, during the days of World War II, paper was too costly and publication of a yearbook was against the law.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB IT'S NO LONGER A MAN'S WORLD

139

We in the Industrial arts club do many things from woodwork to printing. It just isn't a place to go on Tuesday when you don't want to go to class. It's education as well as fun. So far, in the industrial arts club we have sold chocolate crunch bars, sold hats, bumper stickers and tickets for a skateland activity. Also there were a few members chosen by the industrial arts teachers to represent Peabody and the state of Virginia at the state fair. We displayed silk screening while we were there.

Industrial Arts is really keen
And the teachers there help make the scene.
They teach you to work with your hands
And not to sit idle and flick rubber bands.
You go in and make projects galore,
And never know what's not in store.
They teach you to work with various tools,
And never break those safety rules.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB OF AMERICA

142

Special honors go to Janet Ozmar, who won an area speech contest and to James Mitchell who was the top advertisement salesman for this yearbook.

The DECA Chapter owns and operates the Distributive Shop. They sell candy and school supplies, and with the money they earn they buy equipment and displays for the Distributive Shop and classroom. Every member of the Chapter has the opportunity to work behind the counter, selling, stocking, buying, and completing a physical inventory of merchandise as well as operating.

A week before Christmas the Chapter members held a cookie sale and before that sold donuts to raise money for a field trip in the spring.

They attended a fall Rally in Ludenburg where they participated in the Gong Show. A few people from Peabody did a 50's number.

The Chapter officers also went to an Officers Training Conference at Richard Bland College where they talked about their duties as officers. All the DECA Chapter officers in the district attended the meeting. At the conference they saw slides of other conferences and heard speeches by alumni officers.

THESE HAVE BEEN THE "HAPPY DAYS"

What will the future bring? Certainly, life will not be all straight and smooth. There will be obstacles in our path. How we accept life's challenges will determine if our future will contain "Happy Days."

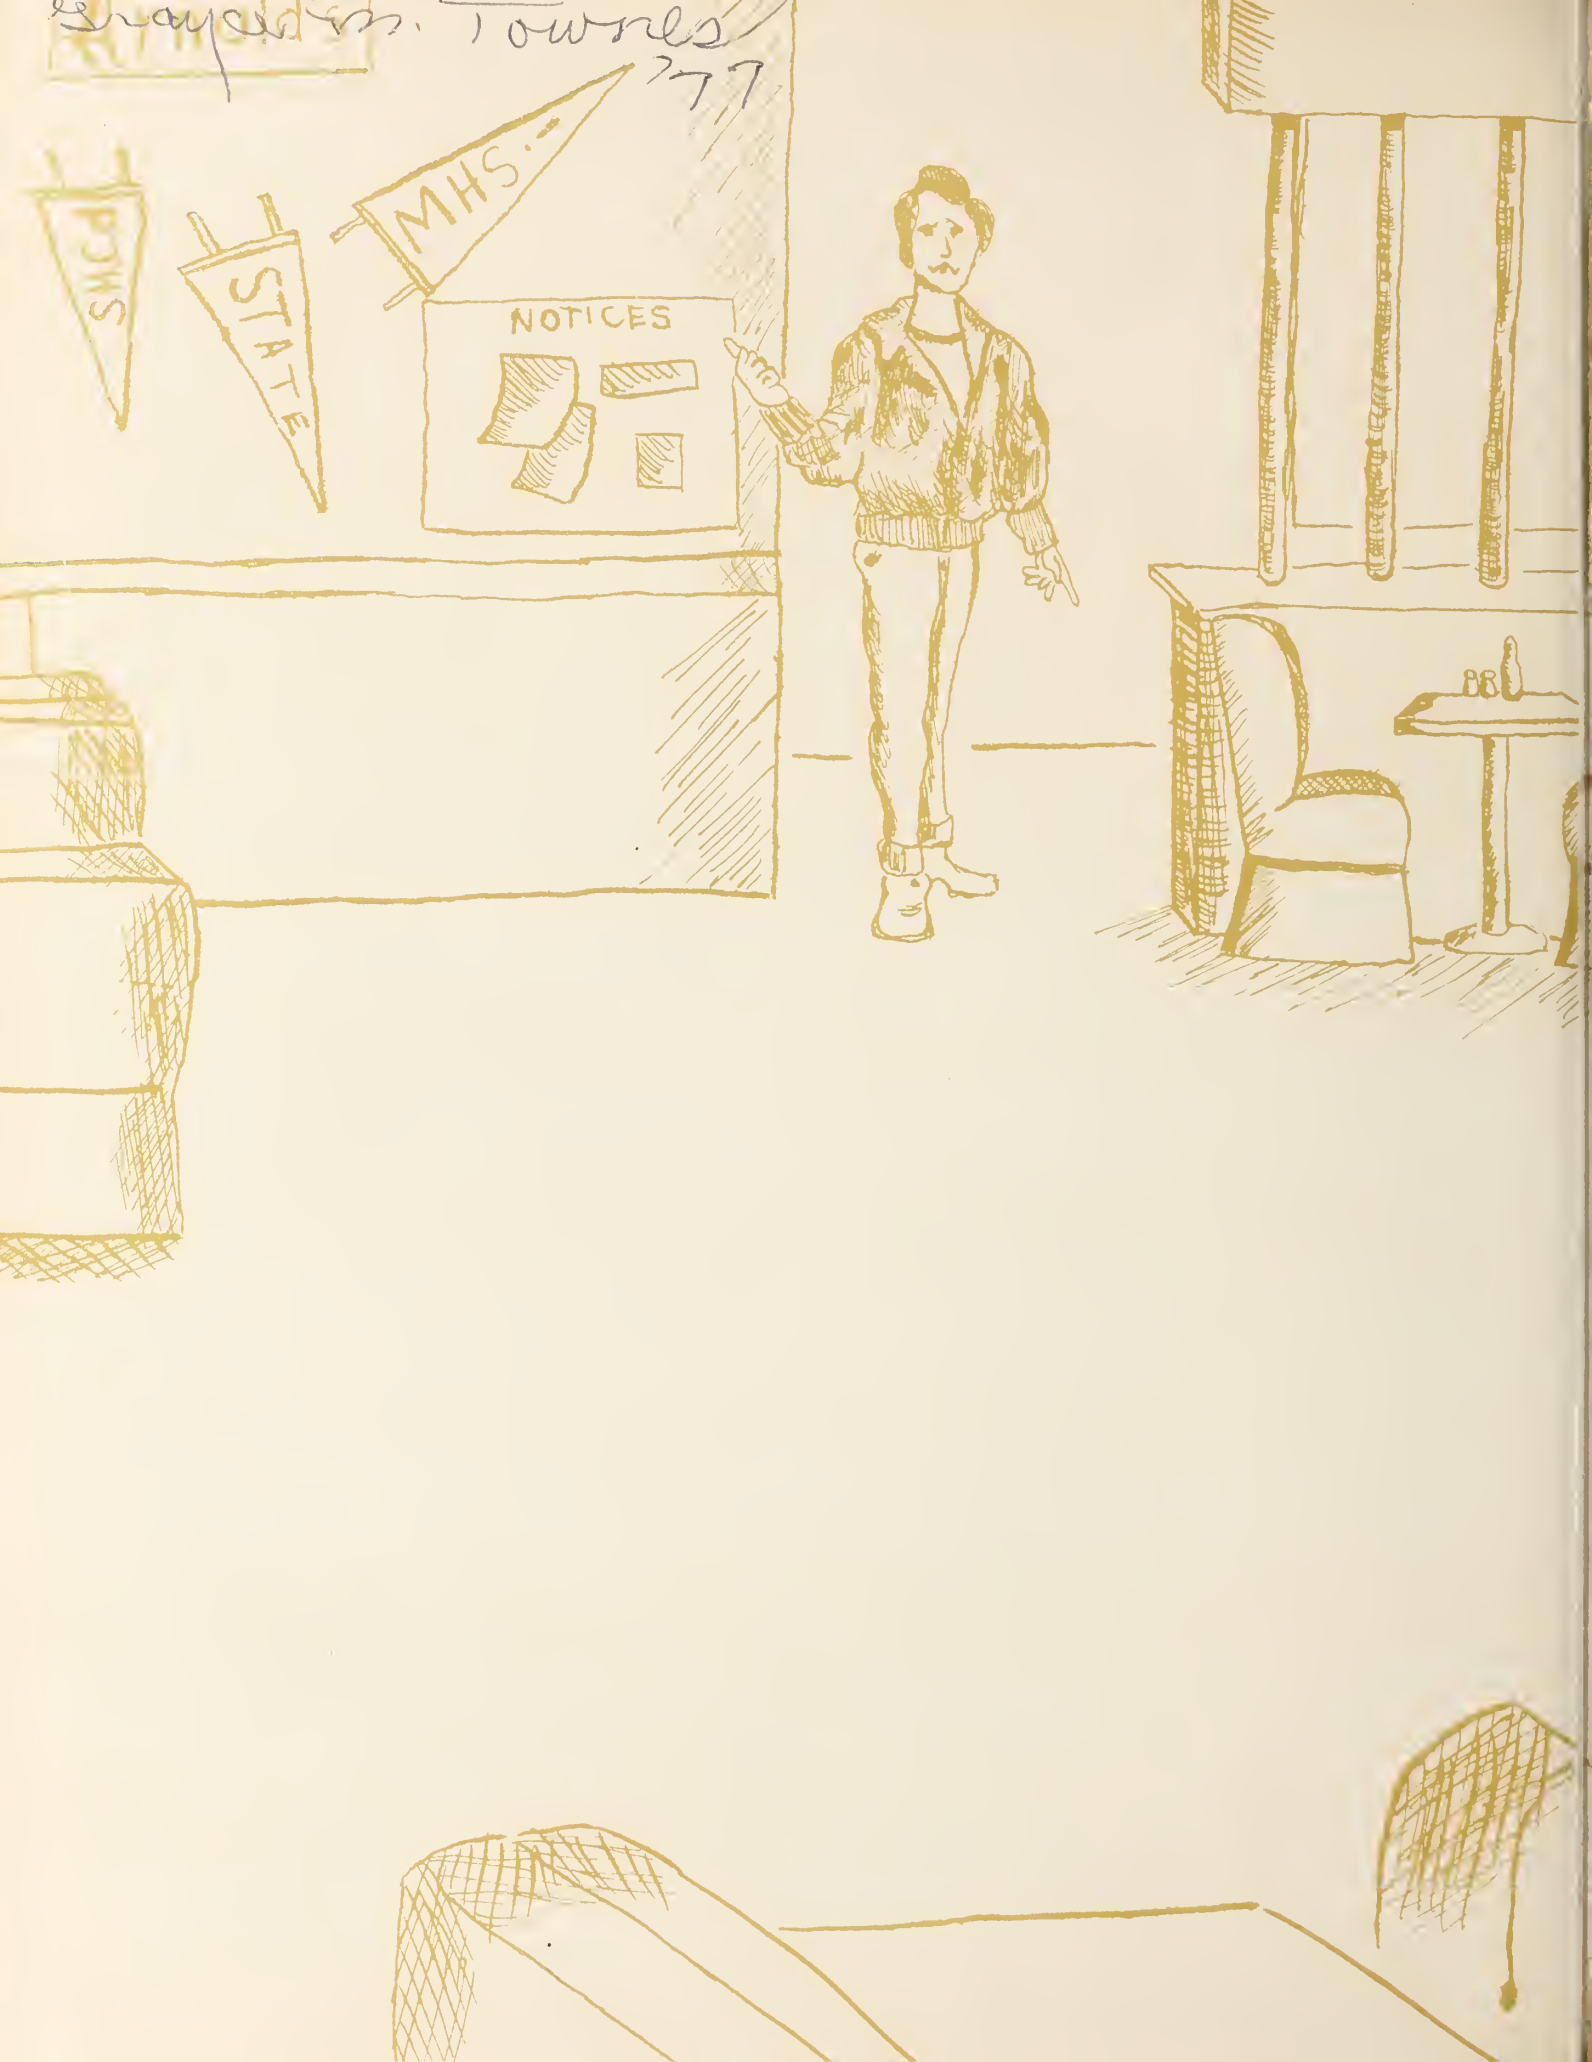

THE FOLLOWING PAGES ARE "RESERVED"

This is your book. Your name is on the cover. Want to make lasting memories of your own happy days? Take a few moments and preserve your favorite recollections. Write down your thoughts and feelings before they fade forever.
